Notification has this weird number. Can you check what does it represent? And if you can fix this, so there should be no number if there is no new notification.

We don't need this page. The profiles will be linked with deceasedProfile. Not all profile needs to have a link, but only if the person is deceased.

We need to have a default photo. If a person doesn't set a profile picture, then we need to have one image that should be placed everywhere, and if they have uploaded a picture then their uploaded photo should be displayed.

Saqib Kamran

🕐 Tuesday, September 19, 2023 at 04:17 PM

For some reasons when I try to upload a picture from this form, it is not working. It was working before, so it should be a quick fix. Please have a look at it.

When country and City is updated, these fields should be updated on the frontend as well.

As you can see PK is updated, but we need to have full country name and country flag. (Flag on the left and Country name after it).

Same needs to update the country information here.

Remove the country from here, and reduce vertical spaces. And also see if you can fetch online status from Chatify module and show that status here.

Accepting a friend request but the inverse relationship wasn't added in the database. It was being added before. Please double check the previous code since that was working fine in Request page.

As you can see there is only one entry in the database.

Saqib Kamran added this user, and the inverse relationship wasn't created. And now Death Confirmation shows Saqib Kamran here, which is wrong.

Imagine you have added me as family, and I added you back, and then I also add you in my trusted contact. Only then you should be able to report my death, and since you haven't added me in your contacts, so I will not see your name under Death Confirmation because death confirmation can only be done by Trusted Contacts added by the deceased person. Please correct this.

When reporting a Death Confirmation, I uploaded the attachment but that is not uploaded in the database.

After login I was redirected to this page, which is good, there is something wrong with the header, No new Notification is displayed in the header.

There was a notification but it wasn't saying (1) with the notification. Secondly, please add some space after the button.

With sympathy, (after comma) there should be new line and Last Few Words Team should be written on the new line.

When I open a deceased profile, the page looks okay except On the header top right corner, it shows Saqib instead of the loggedIn User information. So basically, the header should have logged in user information like normally using the website, secondly there is weird number with the notification.

Please check the marked points.

- 3 dots should not be displayed.
- Edit button with the profile picture shouldn't be displayed
- Header should not be changed as per deceasedPerson

These should filter the posts for the deceasedPerson. Currently they are linked with the logged in User profile.

Chat Module:

1. The chat notification should be site-wide. So if new message is received, the user should receive notification in the header, adding some sound would be great.
2. The user doesn't receive instant message, it should be auto fetched.
3. When on the chat window, the dropdown of the menu doesn't work, needs to check if there is any JS error.
4. Mobile responsive needs to be checked and adjusted. Header / navigation menu is missing:
